The joy of our school dinner recipes is that they are, on the most part, fairly simple to follow and with only a handful of ingredients. So, I'm sure most of you will have no trouble knocking them up. But what if you want to learn some of the finer points of cookery?

Well, now you can as we have discovered these great Cookery Courses from Virgin. They are offering a range of 'experiences' related to all things food and drink, from fine dining in some great restaurants to master classes in French cuisine with Jean-Christophe Novelli!

If you fancy honing your skills and adding a twist to our classic recipes, why not have a look? You can find out more and visit the Virgin web site by clicking here .
